The Southern Pacific “Morning Daylight”

In the 1940's, the Southern Pacific “Morning Daylight” was possibly the world's most beautiful train, its orange and red striping a telling mark of it being one of the Espee's premier train lines. This “Morning Daylight” consist ran between Los Angeles and San Francisco along the beautiful California coast, going through such cities as Ventura, Santa Barbara, Salinas and San Jose. Heading up the “Morning Daylight” was the specially built steam locomotive, the Lima Locomotive Works GS-4, one of the most well known steam engines ever designed, and one which survives to this day.

The Kato Southern Pacific “Morning Daylight” passenger car sets will feature all-new tooling in order to re-create in exact detail this famous and beautiful passenger train. Articulated cars will use a free-floating articulated diaphragm that will flex to match the contours of your layout, while maintaining a streamlined and seamless look that matches the real train. Non-articulated cars will have our magnetic knuckle couplers, but can be upgraded with optional close-coupling tight lock couplers that will give even non-articulated cars a streamlined and closely coupled appearance without sacrificing the ability to take tight turns. Of course, all cars will have full interior detailing that can be illuminated via optional 11-209/210 interior lighting kits with LEDs. Furthermore, you can enhance your Daylight experience with the use of Kato's new N scale Yard figures, perfectly suited to keep your new “Morning Daylight” train running on time.

Train #99 From Los Angeles to San Francisco, departing 8:15am

The “Morning Daylight” trains 98 and 99 ran between LA and San Francisco, past 471 miles of coast and surf. The Full 18 Car (SP considered articulated units two or more cars, and numbered them as such) train 98/99 consist can be built from the 10-car base set (marked in yellow) and the additional Articulated Coach sets (in orange).
